DIED. WALLS—Departed this life on Saturday evening, November 16, at 10 o'clock, after a lingering illness, Mary F., beloved wife of H.C. Walls, aged forty-two years, Functal from her late residence, 1215 Pennsadvania avenue southeast, thence to St. Peter's Church, at 2 o'clock p. m., Tuestay, November 19th. IN MEMORIAM.

Lines on our dear brother, Afbert Carriere, who departed this life one year ago today, November 19, 1884.

Afbert, our brother, the new at rest, And blest in thy heavenly home, We'd fain believe with a parent's trust. That of us thou thinkest still.

We forget thee not, but, day by day, Think of thee, and on thy love Rely agour only strength and stay; Yes, our brother, thou wert our hope and

One long year has come and gone. Since God took you to himself, Yet not a day has journeyed on, But that our hearts reit sere and sad.

And not a day in coming years Can take this sorrow from our hearts; And yet a vision glids our tears— Thy angel smile in heavenly bowers.

Ask God to be a helping hand To us thus left behind, our brother, That we may meet in Bediah Land, And there together dwell. BY HIS SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

DINNER-GIVING AS AN ART

Carried to Greater Perfection in Washington Than Elsewhere.

Cards Out for Several Weddings-Senator and Mrs. Calvin S. Brice Expected Early in December.

The senson of small dinners is here, and surely no city is cleverer in their arrangement than Washington. It would seem an easy matter to plan a function at which twelve or fourteen congenial souls could discuss topics of interest and enjoy dainty dishes, but as a fact nothing is more difficuit. Mrs. Foster, who is quite a genius in this regard, has issued invitations for Friday evening, Mrs. Pollak will enter-ton in the same delightful way Saturday evening. On Friday Mrs. Sternterg will give a tea from 4 to 7, and Mrs. Marshal wilson will give a function. Tomorrow, from 4 to 7. Mrs. Horner, of No. 1010 Thirteenth street, will introduce Miss Horner, her daughter, and later there will be a dance for young people.

Major and Mrs. William Oscar Roome have issued cards for the marriage of their daughter, Leila, to Mr. William Mercer Harris, fr., the ceremony to occur at St-Andrew's Church, December 3, at 8 o'clock.

Cards are out from Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cards are out from Mr. and airs. Luomas M. Botts for the wedding of their daughter, Annie Elizabeth, to Mr. Charles N. Gibani, of this city, at Grace M. E. Church, corner minth and 8 streets northwest, at 80 clock, Thursday evening, November 28. Mesers. Perry Medford, Fred Duvall, Irving Has kins, and William Leech will act as usbers. Mr. George S. Gibson, brother of the groom, will be best man, and Miss Mollie liotts, sister of the bride, maid of honor.

The marriage of Miss Sara Hartsall to Mr. Daniel Schiller took place Sunday evening at the home of the bride's mother. No. 1236 Pennsylvania avenue. The house was pretrily decorated with palms and flowers, and a delicious collation served. Mr. and Mrs. Schiller will be at home to friends after December 1.

Miss Matole McQuade and Mr. William E. Gunton of West Virginia will be married at St. Matthew's rectory at 7:15 to-morrow evening. They will leave im-mediately after the ceremony for their home in West Virginia.

The home of the Secretary of War is one of the most attractive in Washington, and it follows that there is no little social grambling at festive New York, which with frequent merry-making attracts its cour-teous mistress. Mrs. Lamont, who has only lately returned from attending the Whitney Paget westding and the horse show, leaves today to be present at the marriage of her friend. Miss Stillmann, to Mr. William Rockefeller. Accompanied by her children Mrs. Lamout will spend Thanksgiving with her father at her former home in New York State, Miss Stilmann is quite popular socially here, having spent last season as the guest of Mrs

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Benner of Annapolis are the guests of Mrs. E. L. Burch of South Washington.

The Continental Chapter of the Daugh-ters of the Revolution met last evening at the Hotel Oxford. The room was prettily decorated with flowers, draped with flags and crowded with guests of the chapter.

Mrs. Madison Pallinger presided and an interesting musical and literary programme was enjoyed. The principal feature of the occasion was an address by Mr. R. Grant Barnweil, on "The Women of the Ameri-can Revolution," an able and eloquent dissertation of those great and good dissertations.

Mr. Barnwell's fike essay on "Samuel Adams, a forgothen hero," read before the society last spring, was recalled with pleasure, by those who were present.

Mr. Hastings, the new accretary of the Hawaitan republic is a familiar figure on the streets here. He is an American—a Yankee, in fact—by birth, but has spent the most of his life on that little sea girt island, whose donessic affairs for some island, whose donestic affairs for some time past have been if interest to the world at large. His wife is a native, a descend-ent probably of a missionary family, as most of the natives on the island are. Mrs. Hastings is a large fine looking woman, and ter from Hawail. It argues well for the prospective gaities that no less than three of this season's debatantes are young women of great wealth, with mothers who have already shown their intentions toward society by lavish entertaining, and with homes that are especially adapted for carrying out of their hospitable intentions. I refer to Miss Barney, Miss Anderson and Miss Warder.

by her personal appearance brings to mind Mrs. Carter, the wife of the former minis-

Warder.

Miss Barney is a picturesque blond, with a wealth of fair bair, dark, lustrous eyes and a clear complexion. There is semething in her expression that suggests her versatile mother, although the resemblance is not striking. Miss Barney has been partly educated in Europe, is a fluent linguist, and, after the fashion of the day, finguist, and, after the fishion of the Cay, fond of out-door sports.

The Barney house on Rhode Island avenue, while not of any very great pretentions on the outside, has an attractive interior. Mrs. Barney's studio, especially, is an interesting room, rich in curies and bric-a-brac, fine old paintings and ever brica-brac, line old paintings and ever fresh evidence of its clever chatelaine's skill, who has succeeded remarkably well in pertraiture.

But not withstanding her devotion to art, Mrs. Barney finds abundance of time for society, and has planned many ways by which to make Miss Nathshe's tirst winter in society a memorable way.

m society a memorable won.

Mrs. Warder's handsome house and that of her neighbor's, Mrs. Anderson, as among Richardson's last work, have received frequent mention. His medie satosay that the interiors of these beautiful evidence of the satosay that the interiors of these beautiful evidence. that the intertors of these beautiful evidences of that master's skill, carry out the promise of the exteriors, and are admirably adapted for entertaining, as they were planned to be. Miss Warder is a younger addition of her popular sister, Mrs. Ward Thoron, very attractive in appearance and with most winning ways. The Warders spent most of the fall in the Adirondacks, at Saranae Lake. Miss Warder is an excellent whip, and is seen at her best spinning over the asphait, the ribbons held tight in Ler little hands, over the back of as pretty a pair of bay roadsters as can be seen in town. as can be seen in town.

Miss Anderson is very like her mother—
"A daughter of the goes, divinely tall"— with fine carriage and a distinguished bearing. She dresses well, and has enthosiasta and interest, which is a young girl's chief attraction.

The Pink Carnation Clab met Saturday night for the first time this season at the home of its president, Mass Reche lattler, of Capitol Hill. The pariors were prettily decorated with palma and bowls of pink carnations and the dining room there was a small grotte formed of tiny shales of white granite and ferns and carnations, from which flowed streams of lemonade. There were several pretty famey dances by Miss Lutie Wallace and Master Harrison Wilkins, friends of Miss Butler's young sister Engema, and a worst solo with number in accompanimently Miss Lutin Walls and Duncan Wells. "What is between CLOVER CREAMERY BUTTERINE at 25c, and the ALDERNEY at 20c, a pound? This is a question often asked at the Center Market. There is really very little difference indeed. It is principally in the price. What difference exists is in the bouquet and flavor. Both grades are made from the same materials. They are made at the same time. There is no differ-ence up to a certain point. ALDERNEY is just as pure, sweet, and wholesome as CLOVER. When the process that gives the flavor is reached CLOVER CREAMERY goes a step farther than ALDERNEY. The flavor is a little finer. The expense of imparting that wonderful bouquet to CLOVER CREAMERY is considerable. But the retail price differs but 5c. a pound.
